CANTON CHARGE AND CONSUMERS NATIONAL BANK TEAM UP FOR NEW TRAVELING PRACTICES

The Canton Charge, the NBA Development League team owned and operated by the Cleveland Cavaliers, is pleased to announce that they have teamed up with Consumers National Bank to present Traveling Practices, a new and unique fundraising opportunity for the 2014-15 season. Traveling Practices offer area communities the chance to see the Charge's NBA-caliber players and the Charge game entertainment experience up close and personal in their own gyms!

"We are very excited to partner with Consumers Bank and reach out to communities to get a sample of what we offer all season long," said Charge Chief Operating Officer Mike Levy. "It's a great program all-around which allows schools to raise funds and be treated to great experiences both at their home court and at a Charge game at the Canton Civic Center."

Groups pick a date based on limited availability to bring the Charge to their own facility for a practice, along with a performance from the Charge Girls dance team and on-court games hosted by loveable mascot Pozzie! Tickets sold include admission to the Traveling Practice AND a voucher that can be redeemed at the box office for a ticket to any Canton Charge game. The more traveling practice tickets sold, the bigger the percentage groups get to keep for themselves.

"Consumers is proud to be a partner with the Canton Charge," said Ralph Lober II President and CEO of Consumers National Bank. "They are a local team that communities in our markets can rally around. Together, we can help make a difference in the local schools by offering this opportunity for the school to raise funds."

The new agreement also offers Consumers National Bank broad awareness-building opportunities, community engagement, and customer benefits through the use of in-arena signage, school programs, and a unique offer that will allow all Consumers National Bank clients 50% off of Charge tickets to commemorate Consumers' 50 years of business. For more information on Traveling Practices, fans can contact a Charge ticket specialist at 866-444-1944.
